Anything for Love

Romance gone away, romance gone awry and romance gone out of bounds are the themes of this short-subject triple-header, a trio of winning films culled from our "Directed By" film series—where some of your favorite actors and actresses have made their directorial debuts. Wealthy, lonely widower Danny Aiello finds himself hovering between the affections of a call girl (Christine Lahti) and an exuberant real estate agent (Nancy Travis) in Liebman in Love (above, left), which Lahti also directed. In Museum of Love, starring Paul Mercurio, Sandra Bernhard and Samantha Mathis, a hopeless romantic creates a shrine to the one that got away. Christian Slater (left) directs. And in Richard Dreyfuss' Present Tense. Past Perfect, an affair with a married woman takes an unusual twist. William Petersen, Anne Archer and Carrie Fisher costar. (1:45)

bedtime

It's not the end of the day, it's our all-new adult anthology series. Focusing on six couples as they prepare for bed, each episode is a sensitive, humorous slice of life that raises questions about relationships and the conflicts that couples encounter. On October 13, bedtime is time to stay awake as we reprise all 13 episodes in a 6 1/2 hr. marathon beginning at 8PM (ET/PT).

Sex and the Silver Screen

As long as pictures have been in motion, from 1895 to the present, there's been debate over what is and is not acceptable for portrayal. It's an argument that won't go away quietly, and as the race to be more racy continues, our all-new documentary anthology series makes its bid to be the definitive chronicle of the subject. Raquel Welch hosts. (AC,AL,N)

The Pathfinder

It's the 1750s, wartime, and the British army needs information on French military strength in a stronghold near the American Great Lakes. Dispatched by English officers to infiltrate and appraise enemy forces, scout Kevin Dillon successfully gathers the information that will spark this epic drama: the French are poised to take control of the entire region. Based on the classic novel by James

Fenimore Cooper (The Last of the Mohicans), this ambitious effort stars Graham Greene and Laurie Holden and features a special appearance by Stacy Keach. (1:41)

A Showtime Original Picture for Kids

Shadow Zone: The Undead Express

First Zach (Chauncey Leopard) begins to wonder if his best friends are really friends at all. Then he learns that a vampire named Valentine (Ron Silver) may be poised to turn New York City into his own personal dining room. Is Zach merely the victim of an overactive imagination? Either that, or it's next stop Jugular Junction! Nothing is quite what it seems to be in this toothy chiller, the first in a planned series of SHOWTIME Original Pictures for Kids based on J.R. Black's Shadow Zone books.

Johnny Mnemonic

Mnemonic means memory enhancement and Johnny Mnemonic's (Keanu Reeves) got the brain to prove it. He's a futuristic data courier who's been equipped to store vast amounts of computer data. Problem is, he knows too much. Now his bosses want his head. Cyber-punk action with Dina Meyer and Ice-T. R (AL,V) (1:37) esp Oct. 4, 9, 19, 21

Roommates

Peter Falk stars as Rocky Holeczek, a crotchety but cuddly granddad who, when thrust into the role of parenting his seven-year-old orphaned grandson, Michael, rose clumsily but sincerely to the occasion. But now Michael's (D.B. Sweeney) all grown up and ready to start a family. Rocky's 107 and not ready to let go. A most endearing character comedy from director Peter Yates. PG (AC) (1:49) Oct. 25, 28

Never Talk to Strangers

If only psychiatrist Dr. Sarah Taylor (Rebecca De Mornay) had paid heed to that classic caveat. Instead, she's become involved with a security guard (Antonio Banderas) who should have remained a stranger. But just when you think you know how it all might turn out, this tense thriller takes a crafty surprise turn. Len Cariou and Dennis Miller costar.
